Habitat for Humanity Bay-Waveland Area repairs Vietnam Veteran's Home

In 1970, when U.S. Marine Russell Nichols returned from Vietnam, he didn't receive a hero's welcome. Now, almost 50 years later, Nichols is receiving the hero's treatment, thanks to the Habitat for Humanity Bay-Waveland Area's veteran's home repair program.

Nichols said he inherited the St. Francis Street home he currently resides in, which once belonged to his Aunt Selma Simms.

"It was dilapidated and I was trying to put it together," Nichols said. "I read about the veterans program with Habitat in the paper. Then this magnificent man came along and blew me out the water."

The man Nichols referred to is Michael Cowan, volunteer and construction manager for Habitat for Humanity Bay-Waveland Area.

Cowan said Habitat completed several critical home repairs through the veterans program.

The first project involved home preservation, Cowan said, which is done in conjunction with Home Depot. Volunteers painted Nichols' home so that it "ages in place and remains in good condition," Cowan said.

During the second project, Habitat replaced all of the home's windows.

Testimony began Monday in Hancock County Circuit Court in the trial of Eugene Butler, Jr., who is charged with manslaughter in the June 25, 2016 death of 19-year-old Vanessa Destiny Mauffray.

Vanessa and her boyfriend, Ryan Necaie - now 28 -- were in a small boat setting crab traps on Bayou Caddy when Butler allegedly broadsided their skiff with his 20-foot fishing boat.

HISTORIC COCKTAIL PARTY IN BSL

Hancock County Historical Society Executive Director Charles Gray welcomes guests to the society's "Cocktails and Canapés" party.

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

The Hancock County Historical Society on Friday welcomed more than 80 guests for its old-fashioned "Cocktails and Canapés" party, raising approximately $3,000 for the society's building fund.

The party was the beginning of "an on-going campaign to attract supplemental donations and grants to offset the increased expense of maintaining an old building that the $30 per year dues paid by the 350 members of the society can no longer sustain gracefully," according to a historical society statement.

The society is headquartered in the Kate Lobrano House, described on the historical society's website as "a delightful 1896 shotgun cottage that was donated to the society in 1988 by the grandchildren of Katherine Maynard Lobrano." The original house, located at 108 Cue Street, is used as a turn-of-the-century museum while an addition to the rear of the house provides office and storage space.

Guests at Friday's event enjoyed canapés such as Georgia vidalia onion tarts, southern pimento cheese finger sandwiches, sun-dried tomato cheese quiche, and homemade cheddar cheese straws. Fancy cocktails mixed by professional mixologists (bartenders) included honeysuckle lemonade, Kentucky bourbon old fashions, mint juleps, tom collins, and lemon martini.

During the event, several guests also enrolled as new members of the society.

"This party has created a buzz in the town and county that the Historical Society Museum/Library is an important cultural treasure that deserves financial support from the community to maintain this delightful 1896 shotgun cottage serving as a guest house or travel center," according to the release. "The society has already received donations large and small both from individual citizens and local businesses for which the Society wishes to express its heartfelt appreciation. Hancock County enjoys a special cultural heritage that spans three centuries of history."

Be aware of deer along highways

SEA COAST ECHO

As the seasons slowly change into autumn, the days get shorter, and deer become more active and visible on Mississippi roadways. The Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) reminds motorists to take precautions to avoid collisions with deer.

“Mississippi averages over 3,600 reported deer-related crashes per year,” said Melinda McGrath, P.E., MDOT Executive Director. “Hitting a deer can be a very costly expense and sometimes it can cause a life-threatening accident.”

In 2018, there were 3,855 reported deer-related crashes in Mississippi. However, the number of incidents could be as high as 22,000 according to one insurance industry analysis.

Motorists should be aware of large animals near the road and have a plan of action.

Keeping calm and driving smart improve drivers’ chances of avoiding collisions and staying safe on the road.

“Deer are unpredictable, especially when frightened,” McGrath said. “Drivers should remain vigilant, avoid distractions and wear their seat belts.”

Though deer season peaks from October through January, remember that deer can run on or near roadways at any time of the year.

Practice safe driving at all times and keep these precautions in mind to help get through this time of year accident-free:

Don’t veer for deer. If a deer runs in front of a moving car, remain calm and brake firmly. Swerving can cause drivers to lose control of their vehicles, causing an even more serious accident.

Deer are herd animals. Take extra caution for deer lingering around the same area.

Remain vigilant when driving at dawn and dusk. About 20 percent of crashes occur in early morning, while more than half occur between 5 p.m. and midnight.

Always buckle up for safety and drive at a safe speed.

At night use high beams, when no traffic is approaching, to illuminate the eyes of deer near the road. Make sure both headlights and high beams are cleaned and aimed correctly.

“No matter if a driver is traveling rural roads or busy highways, the threat of hitting a deer while driving is very real,” McGrath said. “All motorists should take extra precautions during deer season to ensure their safety while traveling.”

MDOT urges motorists to avoid distracted driving and buckle up for safety when traveling Mississippi’s highways and roadways during deer season.

MDOT’s objective is to maximize taxpayer’s dollars by providing a safe, efficient multimodal network that enhances economic stability and growth. For more information, visit GoMDOT.com.

Health Officials Report Fifth Case Of Lung Illness Related to Vaping in Mississippi

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) reports one additional identified case of a vaping-related lung illness in Mississippi, bringing the state total to five with one death. All identified cases have been in individuals between 18 and 34 years of age.

Mississippi is part of a national investigation into severe pulmonary disease or lung injury linked to the use of e-cigarette products (vaping). Nationwide, as of September 24, there have been 805 cases of lung illness reported from 46 states and one U.S. territory.

Twelve deaths have been reported from 10 states.

While many of the cases in the U.S. report vaping cannabis products, such as tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), in addition to nicotine products, no specific product such as the device, liquid, refill pods or cartridge has been clearly identified as the cause of illness.

Symptoms of severe vaping-related lung illness include cough, shortness of breath, chest pain, nausea or vomiting, diarrhea, fever and fatigue. Symptoms develop anywhere from over a few days of use to weeks of using e-cigarettes.

Until an exact cause of the illness has been determined, the CDC recommends the following actions:

If you are concerned about the health risks, consider refraining from using e-cigarettes or vaping products.

If you are an adult who used e-cigarettes containing nicotine to quit cigarette smoking, do not return to smoking cigarettes.

If you have recently used an e-cigarette or vaping product and you have symptoms like those reported above, see your healthcare provider.

Additionally, Mississippians are urged to not buy products off the street containing THC or other cannabinoids.

Do not modify or add substances to e-cigarette products that are not intended by the manufacturer.

For more information on the dangers of e-cigarettes and vaping, visit the MSDH website at HealthyMS.com/lungillness.

Statewide Wildland Fire Risk Alert

SEA COAST ECHO

Effective October 1, 2019, the Mississippi Forestry Commission (MFC) is issuing a statewide Wildland Fire Alert. The MFC is encouraging the public to postpone all burning activities until further notice.

Due to the current drought conditions and the predicted weather pattern for the next week, the fire danger rating for the state will remain extremely high.

“There is a cool front expected to move through portions of the state later this week,” said MFC state forester

Russell Bozeman. “This front could bring lower humidity and wind, elements that can encourage wildfire growth.”

The state has experienced little to no rainfall over the past several weeks. The Keetch-Byram Drought Index (KB DI), a scale designed for fire potential assessment, has the state rated above 600, with parts of the state above 700. The current KB DI rating for Mississippi indicates that six to seven inches, or more, of rain needed to bring soil moisture levels back to

Bring on the fall

It's finally here, my favorite time of the year, fall.

At least that's what my calendar tells me, because the weather we've been having lately is not indicative of fall weather at all.

Weather forecasters are predicting a cool front for next week and I hope they're right. I'm ready for some cooler weather and shorter days.

I like to think of myself as a vampire-type person. I love the dark, dreary, and near isolation part. Don't worry, I don't drink blood and can't control minds. Although the latter could definitely be an awesome skill.

When I went to college in Oxford, I felt like I really experienced fall for the first time.

I saw the leaves change, felt the crisp change in the air, and I could smell the fall in the air. It's hard to describe that smell, but I know it when it hits my nose.

I love the colors associated with fall, the browns, oranges, reds are some of my favorite colors.

Even though I love my summer footwear (yes, I'm a shoe addict), I can't wait to break out my boots and winter shoes.

I love wearing sweaters and coats and wrapping myself in a blanket to watch a movie or television show while drinking a cup of hot tea or coffee.

And I am that "basic" type of girl, I do enjoy a pumpkin spice latte or anything made with pumpkin. Another fun fact: The Mockingbird Cafe has a delicious homemade pumpkin spice flavoring that I'm hoping they will bring back again this year.

Of course, there's the holidays such as Thanksgiving and Christmas which bring the family together for some hearty foods and fellowship. I'm a scaredy-cat, so Halloween is definitely not my favorite holiday. Fun fact: I took my first steps on Halloween, right before my first birthday.

Speaking of hearty foods, the fall is a great time for chowders, soups, and melted brie cheese and ham sandwiches.

Just typing this column gets me more excited for this time of year. I feel more alive when I'm not sweating profusely due to the humidity and heat of the deep south. I'm also more than likely to want to get out of my house during this time of year.

I hope that cool front makes its way to the Bay-Waveland area next week so that our fall can officially begin.

The Turpentine Industry in Hancock County

Turpentine production was at one time an important chapter in the economic history of Hancock County. It is estimated that in the early twentieth century approximately 50% of workers in the county were employed in the timber industry and another 15% of workers were used for the production of naval stores or turpentine.

Annual production in Mississippi in 1882 was approximately 15,000 casks or 750,000 gallons of turpentine. By 1905 annual production had increased to 63,207 casks or 3,150,000 gallons.

The piney forests of the South in that era provided a plentiful natural resource which small plants with kilns tapped or chemically converted by distillation into a much needed oil or extract. For a few decades the local industry enjoyed cheap labor, adequate outside financing, and an attractive supply and demand curve in the global market.

This spirit of turpentine had many different uses, one as a paint and varnish solvent. It was in great demand at that time, and much of the product was exported to Europe. Hancock County played an important role in the story of the rise and decline of the turpentine industry in the United States.

Defined by the Columbia Encyclopedia,

HANCOCK HISTORY
by James Keating MD

naval stores is a "term initially applied to cordage, mask, resin, tar, and timber used in the building of wooden sailing ships; but it now designates the products obtained from the pine tree, e.g. pine oil, pitch, resin, tar, and turpentine."

During the colonial period the naval stores industry was developed on the eastern seacoast. In the early nineteenth century the distillation process of the gum of pine trees was improved, and this enhancement made the process attractive to Southern plantation owners who lived in the pine forests. Next to cotton, timber, and rice, turpentine became one of the South's greatest exports.

Over time, the production of turpentine and the timber industry caused the destruction of the piney forests of the Carolinas and Georgia. This destruction led to the movement of these industries to Florida and Mississippi by the end of the nineteenth century. About 1900 there was considerable speculation in timber in southern Mississippi, and many thousands of acres exchanged hands at fifty to seventy-five cents an acre. Approximately ten turpentine plants opened at various locations in Hancock County often adjacent to lumber mills. Cheap and plentiful raw material was an essential ingredient for the success of a business producing a commodity in this early economy.

A key figure in the local naval stores/turpentine industry was R.R. Perkins who came to Hancock County from South Carolina and Georgia. He initially moved to Caesar, MS, in 1904 and launched a turpentine business. Building the Imperial Naval Stores Co., Ltd, he became the largest single producer of naval stores in Mississippi.

With headquarters in Bay St. Louis, his company was one of the largest business enterprises in the state, capitalized at $500,000. In addition, he was also president of the Hancock Naval Stores Co. in Dillville, MS, and he owned turpentine plants in Caesar, Vidalia, Sellars, Fenton, Standard, and Catahoula.

Later, he and his family moved from Caesar to Bay St. Louis, where he became a leading citizen of the town and where he served as president of the Merchants Bank.

In addition to Perkins, there were other navel store operators in Hancock County such as W.B. Gillican of Standard Turpentine Co. and Dewitt Bacon of Bay Naval Stores Co.

Turpentine collection was initially accomplished by cutting a large "box" defect in the lower bark of the tree trunk to serve as a receptacle for the sap. This process or technique injured the tree, and lumbermen began to refuse to allow small turpentine operators the use of their pine forests.

These small operators began to disappear, and the navel stores industry became increasingly concentrated in the hands of fewer people. Development of an improved method of the "slit and cup" technique allowed the timber and turpentine industries to coexist.

Originally, the lumber companies looked upon the turpentine (naval stores) business as a nuisance, but once the new cup system demonstrated little damage to their pine trees, the big lumber companies such as Poiteviant and Favre absorbed the turpentine companies. They did limit turpentine sapping to three years only before harvesting the trees

National Fire Prevention Month/Week

October is National Fire Prevention Month with National Fire Prevention Week being observed October 6-12, 2018. This year's theme is "Not every hero wears a cape. Plan and practice your escape™." In a fire, seconds count. This can mean the difference between residents of our community escaping safely from a fire or having their lives end in tragedy. All households need to develop an escape plan that is practiced twice a year, one at night and one during the day, using different ways out. Once you get outside, stay outside. Never go back inside a burning building.

This yearly observance was established to remember the Great Chicago Fire, which occurred in 1871. It killed more than

by James L. Cummins

250 people, left 100,000 homeless, destroyed more than 17,400 structures, and burned more than 2,000 acres. The fire began on October 8, but continued into and did most of its damage on October 9, 1871.

While the Great Chicago Fire was the best-known blaze to erupt during this fiery 2-day period, it wasn't the largest. That distinction goes to the Peshtigo Fire, the most destructive forest fire in American history. The fire, which also occurred on October 9, 1871, roared through Northeast Wisconsin, burning down 16 towns, killing 1,152 people, and scorching 1.2 million acres before it was done.

The Peshtigo Fire began when several railroad workers clearing land for much needed tracks unintentionally started a brush fire. Soon the fast moving flames were raging across the land. It was the small town of Peshtigo, Wisconsin that suffered the worst damage. Within an hour, the entire town had been destroyed.

People start most wildfires, but some are attributed to lightning from electrical storms. These fires can spread quickly, igniting brush, trees, and even homes. We need to be especially careful when using campfires or bonfires.

Without proper precautions, campfires are potentially dangerous. You need to know how to properly build one, how to keep it going, and how to properly extinguish it. Most of these fires burn out of control in one of two basic ways: on the ground or in the trees. Dead leaves or pine needles on the ground may ignite from direct contact or airborne embers or sparks may ignite overhanging branches.

No fire should be lit near trees, tents, or other the Buccaneer State Park enhancement.

"This project will enhance Mississippi's only state park with direct access to the Gulf of Mexico," the release states. "Components of this project will preserve and improve local water quality with upgrades to RV sites and improve public access to protected wetlands and upland habitat areas. The state park will have new nature trails added which will improve the education and knowledge about local coastal habitat and the natural wetland environment with the construction of an outdoor amphitheater. This venue will also create a recreational outdoor classroom to promote the importance of coastal wetland habitats."

Hancock County Board of Supervisors President Blaine LaFontaine said Monday that the county is "excited to receive this $2 million."

In the past year, LaFontaine said, through legislation, the county has also received an additional $2 million in funding for the Buccaneer Park project.

"We now have $4 million and are hoping Wildlife and Fisheries will start bidding and constructing this winter," LaFontaine said.

He added that construction is expected to be complete in 2020.

"We're passionate about adding to the quality of life and tourism," he said.

The city of Bay St. Louis received $600,000 for the Ward 6 Boat Launch, Public Water Access and Restroom project.

"The project will provide public water access in Bay St. Louis and includes a public boat launch and portable restroom facility," the release states. "The boat launch will be constructed near the Highway 603 and Bayou Lacroix crossing. The improvements will consist of parking, lighting docks, improved concrete boat ramp, portable and eco-friendly bathroom facility and landscaping."

Bay St. Louis Mayor Mike Favre said Monday that the city is looking at about three or four locations for the project. He said it will be similar to the boat launch in Cedar Point.

"It will provide much needed access to the river and benefit the community," Favre said. "We're fortunate and grateful to have received these funds."

INFINITY Science Center was awarded $1 million for the Assessment

Restoration and Stewardship of INIFINTY Land Holdings.

"This project is focused on landscape-scale ecosystem restoration on the highly visible land surrounding the INFINITY Science Center—located adjacent to, and complementary to the goals of, MDMR's Coast Preserves," the release states. "Part of the project is to control invasive species in marsh land areas. Additionally, a robust educational program will be added that raises awareness of the importance of the health of our natural systems to our quality of life on the Gulf Coast."

Melissa Edel, staff scientist and manager of grants and research at INFINITY, wrote the grant. She added that INFINITY is "excited" about the GOMESA funding.

The research project will involve completing a toxicology of the water and soil to get a baseline reading, she said.

Wedel said that the project will also involve removing invasive plants and planting native species to see how the new plants are filtering out the toxins and heavy metals.

"Plants are good at pulling that out of the environment," she said. "Most important of that is our wetlands. They keep us in balance when we restore and correctly handle our wetlands," Wedel said.

The project is set to begin next month, she said.

INFINITY will also use the funds to construct an outdoor classroom to host classes and professional development events, she said.

These conditions, combined with the high winds and low humidity expected from the approaching dry cold fronts, create an increased risk for devastating wildland fires.

"There are currently 30 of Mississippi's 82 counties under a burn ban, and we expect this list to continue to grow," Bozeman said. "We are asking Mississippians to use caution when doing outdoor activities, and to not do any outdoor burning."

With deer season opening today, and more people in the forests across the state, the MFC encourages caution around ignition sources, such as discarding cigarette butts and parking vehicles over dry grass.

"Under the current conditions, it only takes one spark or ember to start a devastating wildfire," said Bozeman.

A list of counties currently under a burn ban can be found at mfc.ms.gov/burn-bans. If you spot a wildfire, report it immediately by calling 911 and MFC Dispatch at 877-MFC-FIRE.

fire hazards. Never leave a fire unattended. You should always have sand and/or water on hand to smother the fire if it does get out of control. Water is more efficient and effective in extinguishing a fire. The water should be poured until all hissing noises stop. Then you need to stir the ashes with a stick to make sure the water has penetrated all layers.

If water is unavailable, sand may be used to smother the fire. Once the fire has been covered thoroughly with sand, you will then need to stir the ashes with a stick to make sure it has been fully extinguished.

Don't forget safety at home and while you are enjoying the great outdoors and having fun this fall.

JULY 11, 1966 – SEPT. 22, 2019

The Bay community has lost a great chef and friend. Richard Lee Millard, 53, passed away suddenly on Sunday, September 22. He shared his love of cooking for others at the Buttercup on Second Street for the past two years, and at Dat Kitchen Too for 10+ years, on and off. Originally from Detroit, Richard and his family moved to Mississippi in his early adolescence. At 16 he joined the Armed Forces, traveled the world, met his wife and had four amazing children. Through the years he always found his way back to Mississippi, and in 2005, when Katrina devastated the region, he was there to pull his mother, stepfather and family pets out of the surging water to safety. Then, wanting to be close to his children, he moved to Indiana, where he met his second wife, Shannon. His love for Mississippi soon brought the couple back to enjoy the beauty of the coastal region. Richard had many passions. He was happy cooking and having others enjoy his food. A beautiful day at the golf course, an evening of bowling, a competitive game of pool or a night of music made him happy, but his love of the water and cruising the canals of the coast brought him peace.

Richard will be deeply missed by his four children, Kim, Matt, Kevin and Courtney, and his step-children, Chad and Gage. He also leaves four grandchildren, his ex-wife, Viola, and his many friends. The family will be hosting a gathering for his friends and loved ones at a later date.

CLAYTON EUGENE THOMPSON - JULY 27, 1931-SEPTEMBER 29, 2019

He retired from Civil Service with 36 years of service. He served 4 years in the United States Air Force during the Korean War. He had been in the American Legion for 60 years and was a lifetime member. He held many offices in the Legion and in 1987-1988 proudly served as the State Commander. He served American Legion Post 139 in Bay St. Louis as the Commander for three consecutive years. He was preceded in death by his parents, Newton E. Thompson and Irene M. Smith Thompson; two sisters, Irene Thompson and

Nancy Thompson; two sons, Clayton Thompson, Jr. and Micheal Thompson and grandson, Daniel Thompson. He is survived by his wonderful wife of 40 years, Rose Ann Thompson; brother, Newton Thompson; sister, Norma Thompson Chice; two sons, Rodney Thompson (Aimee) and Bryan Thompson; five daughters, Kim Todd (Joey), Linda Newman (Stan), Virginia Oliver (Myron), Joan Peetre (Donald) and Karen Matherne; twenty-six grandchildren; fifty two great-grandchildren; two great-great grandchildren; one step-son, James Travica (Crystal); two step-daughters, Lisa Travica and Patsy Asseff (Nasi); nine step-grandchildren and three step-great grandchildren. A Graveside Service will be held Friday, October 4, 2019 at Gulf Coast Memorial Cemetery in Bay St. Louis at 10:00 a.m. Edmond Fahey Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

Dream

"We believe in building communities by bringing hope together," James Reardon, Habitat for Humanity Bay- Waveland Area's community outreach director, said.

Nichols, a Bay St. Louis native, said he joined the U.S. Marines in 1968, in part due to the fact that he "didn't like the Army uniforms."

"I like them blues," Nichols said.

In 1969, Nichols said he was sent straight from bootcamp to Vietnam. He served in the 1st Marine Division.

He received the Purple Heart due to an injury he received when his leg was hit by shrapnel.

When he returned home in 1970, Nichols said, he moved to Los Angeles and tried to find a job.

"I couldn't find any jobs," he said. "They weren't hiring Vietnam veterans. They put a combat veteran code on your information. They didn't want them working and didn't want us going off around machinery and such."

Nichols said he struggled as the years passed and decided to apply for his disability benefits.

"But I wasn't the only one," he said. "I had a friend in bootcamp. We left on the plane for Vietnam together and came back on the plane together."

Nichols said that he and Willie Harris have been close ever since.

"We lived life the best we could and got the most value," Nichols said. "We didn't get a welcome when we got back and nothing good to push us forward. I never got married. I couldn't take care of myself or a family."

Nichols said he has two daughters, but is not in touch with them that often. "I tried it," he said. "I didn't live the lifestyle of a family man."

Nichols said he is also receiving mental health treatment for Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder.

Nichols said that his brothers and sisters look out for each other now. His brother Scott thanked Cowan and Reardon for "bringing the dream back."

"I'm thankful for you guys," Scott Nichols said. "As a child, I always came to this house. You guys made it possible for us to come home. After her (Aunt Selma's) death, I couldn't."

Reardon said that Cowan likes to get to know the homeowner and add his own personal touch. "Habitat loves our veterans and Michael loves the stories," Reardon said. Habitat installed a flag pole and on Tuesday, members of Bay High School's JROTC program and marching band performed a flag raising ceremony. Nichols' home will now feature American and U.S. Marines flags.

"A permanent flag here to honor your (Nichols) service," Reardon said.

Nichols said, at first, it was hard for him to believe the work going on around him.

"Then Mike showed me he had feelings for the people," Nichols said. "When he did that, that's when I started feeling better. Now I'm proud of this house. That's his job, but he goes for timber.

The turpentine industry was extremely labor intensive. The migrating operators from the Carolinas and Georgia brought with them hundreds of black laborers who for generations had been navel store workers, forming a unique socioeconomic group commonly known as turpentine workers.

These capable and hard working men made an essential contribution to the economic evolution in the piney woods of Hancock County. Nollie Hickman, the dean of the piney woods historians, has written that "naval stores was, in fact, a black industry, and without the black man, could not have existed."

Cheap labor was crucial to the economic formula for success of this industry in this time frame. The economic formula of cheap forests, railroad expansion, cheap black labor, and outside "timber carpetbaggers" providing necessary financing benefited both the lumber and turpentine industries in that era.

Unfortunately, there was rapid decline of the Mississippi naval stores industry after 1910. By then nearly half of the available pines had been tapped, and by the late 1930's the little turpentine production that remained could be found only on small, usually scattered tracts. The successful economic formula did not last.

The piney forests in Mississippi became depleted, and federal labor laws required increased compensation and benefits. Improved technology such as conversion from the gum naval stores technique using live pine trees to the wood naval stores technique using dead pine tree stumps did not deter the decline of the turpentine industry.

A similar phenomenon occurred in the lumber industry in Hancock County which is now mostly pulp or pulpwood production for paper. In addition, there was decreased demand for turpentine because of substitution for different kinds of paint and petroleum products. There was virtual extinction of the gum turpentine industry in Hancock County after World War II. Brazil, Portugal, China, and Indonesia gradually became the major world producers of naval stores.

In conclusion, turpentine was an important chemical industry that developed in Hancock County in the late nineteenth century.

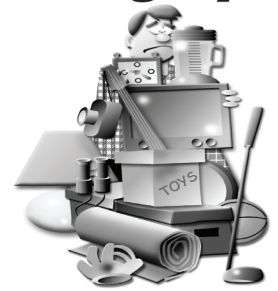

Later, a cluster of polymer and chemical companies would develop in the county in Port of Marine Resources

The trial is scheduled to continue today at the Hancock County Courthouse, with Circuit Judge Lawrence Bourgeois presiding.

Pirates & Rocks get big wins, Hawks suffer defeat on road

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

This past Friday night three of the four area teams were in action with just the Bay High Tigers enjoying an off-night.

The Pass Christian Pirates celebrated Homecoming with a 43-0 thrashing of the Bulldogs of Perry Central while the Rocks hit the long road to Morgan City, LA, and came back with a 28-21 victory over the Central Catholic Eagles. The Hancock Hawks made their way east to Jackson County for a date with the Ocean Springs Greyhounds but were left high and dry with 35-7 loss to accompany them home.

The Pirates (4-2) picked up their first Homecoming win in three seasons with a 42-0 thrashing of Perry Central.

In the game, Pass Christian was led by Dustin Allison who threw for 270 yards and two scores and rushed for another. His two scoring aerials went to Kameron White and Andrew Moffett. Huu Nguyen and Gordon Ward each added a rushing touchdown in the win. Kelton Necaise added the other score when he recovered a bad snap on a Perry Central punt in the end zone.

Reese Gorman led the defensive charge with nine tackles followed by Aiden Purchner with eight.

This week the Pirates will host the Bay High Tigers in the Division 8-4A opener for both upstart squads.

This game marks the first time that both squads have met with a winning record in the last three decades.

Pass Christian is riding high on the arms and legs of dual-threat quarterback Dustin Allison who has thrown for 1,800 yards and 19 touchdowns against just five interceptions. He has also rushed for 300 yards and five scores.

Kameron White has been his top target with 31 receptions for 708 yards and six touchdowns followed by Andrew Moffett with 25 catches for 530 yards and six scores. Xavion Paige has added 12 receptions for 239 yards and four scores.

On defense, the Pirates counter with Reese Gorman at linebacker who has recorded 58 tackles followed by Xavion Chamberlain with 40 and Gordon Ward with 54 stops.

The Tigers (5-0) enjoyed an off-week last Friday evening. They enter the contest with the only undefeated record in the area. Josh Peters has rushed for three touchdowns and threw one in 2019. Noah Cutter leads the ground attack with 538 yards and six touchdowns followed by Sam Sheppard with 416 yards and seven scores.

On defense, the Tigers are led by Zachary West with 34 tackles including 10 tackles for loss and five sacks.

Cutter has added 28 stops and two interceptions.

For the first time in recent memory, this game should be a battle royale and very well could decide a division champion. It will be a match of wits with Pass Christian's two-pronged attack against Bay High's ground assault. This game will be decided by defenders who are not fooled by deception and wrap up with the intent to punish. This one is a flip of the coin. Get to McDonald Stadium early to stake your claim.

The Hancock Hawks (3-2, 0-1) traveled to Ocean Springs last week but returned carrying a heavy 35-7 loss.

The lone score came on a one-yard run by Sema'j Robertson.

The Hawks had their opportunities early to cut the lead in half but squandered the chance.

This week Hancock will host St. Martin (4-1) who also experienced a thrashing last week at the hands of Gulfport 47-16. It also marks the return of quarterback Patrick Greer to the area. Last year, Greer was a quarterback at SSC before transferring to the Jackson County school.

Greer comes to Kiln having thrown for 1,101 yards and 12 touchdowns. Jay McGee leads the ground attack with 474 yards and five scores followed by Makia Hebert with 259 yards rushing and three touchdowns. Hebert also has three scores and 295 yards receiving.

On defense, the Yellow Jackets are led by Easton Wynn with 34 tackles, 10 tackles for loss and five sacks followed by Javon James with 32 tackles and two sacks.

The Hawks counter with Sebastian Fausett who has rushed for 602 yards and six scores.

Jordan Zulli leads the receivers with 345 yards and two scores.

On defense, Hancock is paced by Colby McGough with 63 tackles while Cameron Ganier has 40 stops.

This contest will not end well for Hancock if they allow McGee to find the hole. It is a must that the Hawks remain on the prowl for prey and put pressure on Greer, McGee and the Yellow Jackets.

The St. Stanislaus

Rock-a-chaws (3-2) open their Division 8-4A schedule with a Homecoming date with the Moss Point Tigers (0-5).

The Rocks held their first Homecoming on November 23, 1924, against Jefferson College. The school called the event Dads' and Grads' Day and the Rocks shutout Jefferson College 12-0. This year's Homecoming will mark the 96th anniversary of the initial game.

SSC is coming off a month-long road trip including last Friday's 28-21 victory over Central Catholic in Morgan City, LA.

Max Favre threw for 250-plus yards and four touchdowns in the win. He threw two touchdown passes each to Dallas Payne and Bradley Darby. Payne caught seven passes for 128 yards and two scores. It was the fourth consecutive 100-yard game for Payne. Darby caught two passes for 53 yards.

For the year, Payne has 33 catches for 481 yards and six scores while Darby has 21 catches for 283 yards and three scores.

Favre has thrown for 1,130 yards and 12 touchdowns.

The Rocks are led on defense by Trustin Northington who has 40 tackles and three interceptions on the year while Lee Negrotto has 38 stops including 10 tackles for loss and four sacks.

The Tigers come into the game with a winless record but full of opportunity. Reuben Lee has thrown for 900 yards and 10 touchdowns. Chanton Millender has 422 yards receiving and three touchdowns. Marco Booker and Jaden Matthews have 31 and 30 tackles, respectively, to lead the defense.

This is a tough game to open the division race for both squads. SSC has to keep the Tigers in front of them on defense or risk big-play potential by Moss Point.

This game shapes up just like Bay High/Pass Christian, it is a flip of the coin. Which SSC team comes out of the tunnel?

The mandatory heat timeouts expired October 1st so play will continue without stoppage midway through each quarter. All games are set for a 7pm kickoff. See you at the game!

COMMUNITY DAY AT MARTIN LUTHER KING PARK IN BAY ST. LOUIS

Dozens of volunteers worked together recently during the Community Day at Martin Luther King Park in Bay St. Louis. The event was part of the Magnolia Bayou Watershed Project supported by the Gulf Research Program of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine. Magnolia Bayou is an important coastal stream that flows into the Bay of St. Louis. The watershed is around 800 acres and includes much of downtown Bay St. Louis. During the Community Day, volunteers planted three educational gardens at the park, including edible, pollinator and wetland gardens. They also installed bird boxes built by students at the Hancock County Unit of the Boys and Girls Club. STEM and Art activities were facilitated by Steve Barney and the Bay St. Louis Creative Art Center. The Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis provided refreshments. "Volunteers have stepped up to go out (to the park) every day and water plants so we can get through this dry/hot period," Kelsey Johnson -- assistant director/planner for MSU's Gulf Coast Design Studio -- said. "GiGi Wheeler, 8th grade science teacher at Bay-Waveland Middle School, bought new swings for the playground with her own money and she and a group of students and the city were out there for a couple of hours yesterday evening getting them hung. The planning, design and preliminary work was done by Gulf Coast Community Design Studio, unabridged Architecture, Bay St. Louis Creative Arts Center and Women in Construction.

One Book One Pass” 2019 Author Presentation by Jon Meacham on The Soul of America: The Battle for Our Better Angels

SEA COAST ECHO

What if everyone in Pass Christian read the same book and then joined together to talk about it? That is the idea behind One Book, One Pass! We are pleased to announce that our 2019 selection is The Soul of America: The Battle for Our Better Angels by Pulitzer Prize-winning author and presidential scholar Jon Meacham. Over the past 6 months, the community has read the book and engaged in book discussions, panel discussions, and other programs that culminate in the Author Presentation by Jon Meacham on Wednesday, October 9th at 7pm at the Randolph Center in Pass Christian (315 Clark Avenue).

In The Soul of America, Meacham helps us understand our present moment in American politics and life by looking back at critical times in our history when hope overcame division and fear.

Jon Meacham is the author of the New York Times bestsellers Thomas Jefferson: The Art of Power, American Lion:

Andrew Jackson in the White House, Franklin and Winston, Destiny and Power: The American Odyssey of George Herbert Walker Bush. He is a distinguished visiting professor at Vanderbilt University, a contributing writer for The New York Times Book Review, and a fellow of the Society of American Historians. Meacham lives in Nashville and in Sewanee with his wife and children.

National Night Out in Waveland is this Saturday

BY CASSANDRA
FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Waveland Police Department — in partnership with the Bay St. Louis Police Department, Hancock County Sheriff's Office, and Hancock Youth for Positive Efforts (HYPE) — will host National Night Out on Saturday, Oct. 5 at St. Clare Catholic Church.

The event marks the first time these agencies have collaborated on National Night Out, Waveland Police Chief Mike Prendergast said.

Bay St. Louis Police Department's Community Liaison Ernest Taylor said it gives law enforcement officers and first responders the opportunity to "spread information to the county so the community knows the resources that are available to them."

Cathy Pitalo — the Drug Free Community Project Coordinator for the Hancock Resource Center — said co-hosting the event gives her teenagers something positive to do.

In addition to representatives from the Bay and Waveland police departments and sheriff's office, several other organizations will have resources and staff on site during the event.

Those include: Bay St. Louis Fire Department, Waveland Fire Department, American Medical Response, Mississippi Highway Patrol, Life Flight

Network, Mississippi Crimestoppers, CASA Hancock County, Ochsner Medical Center Hancock, Mississippi Department of Marine Resources, Escape Addiction, Boys and Girls Club, Gulf Coast Center for Nonviolence, Families First, Mississippi Air Rescue, Hope Haven, Hancock Resource Center, MEMA, MDOT, Mississippi Highway Patrol, American Cancer Society, Mississippi Aids Task Force, Mississippi Department of Child Protective Services, DMR Marine Patrol, and Someone's Child.

Taylor said that the event gives the community a chance to meet new and veteran police officers.

"We get new officers all the time and this is a way to introduce our officers to the community," he said. "They can put a name to the face and it makes it a lot easier to deal with."

Prendergast said that this year, event coordinators have added a new component, a BBQ cookoff.

Admission to the event is free to the public and that includes food, which will be given out on a first-come first-serve basis, from local sponsors including: Claiborne Hill Supermarket, Dominos Pizza, Rum Kitchen, Coca-Cola, Little Caesars, Dat Kitchen Too, Calvary Chapel, Southgroup Insurance, Silver Slipper Casino and Hotel, and Waveland Walmart.

Other activities will include a demonstration of the Jaws of Life; a tour of trucks; and a smoke house to show children how to properly escape a building in the event of a fire, Taylor said.

There will also be a bounce house, face painting and performances by the Bay High School, Bay Middle School, and Hancock Middle School dance and cheer teams. Bay High and Hancock's ROTC groups will present the colors.

National Night Out will be held at St. Clare Church, located at 236 S. Beach Blvd., Waveland from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

State's sweet potato crop should be good in 2019

Spring rains created two sweet potato crops in Mississippi, and the later-planted crop is shaping up to be better than the first as harvests get underway.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated the state's sweet potato crop was 42% harvested as of Sept. 22. Analysts put the crop at 40% fair and 57% good.

Mississippi annually grows 28,000 to 30,000 acres of sweet potatoes, mostly in Calhoun County and surrounding areas. Calhoun County alone has 9,190 acres of sweet potatoes this year, up slightly from last year's acreage. Other acreage is scattered across the Delta and in Tate County.

Mark Shankle, a researcher with the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station at the Pontotoc Ridge-Flatwoods Branch Experiment Station, said harvest of fresh-market sweet potatoes is somewhere below the state average of 300 bushels per acre for the early-planted crop. The later-planted crop has the potential for a much better yield.

"The first crop was subject to dry weather after planting, which resulted in a low root set per plant that did not size up by harvest time," Shankle said. "The second crop has the potential to be a really good crop if we get a good rainfall event soon and insect pressure does not affect quality."

Rather than one continuous planting season, spring transplanting of young sweet potato plants, called slips, was halted because the ground got too hot and dry. Once rains fell, growers got the second round of slips transplanted.

Weed control and crop development then became a challenge.

"Preemergence herbicides require timely rain for activation, and several acres of dryland production did not get that rain," he said.

Sweet potato plants also need rain to mature the roots to market size. Current hot and dry weather has limited root size and formed cracks in the soil that put the crop in danger of insect injury to the roots.

Some late-planted crops have experienced a flush of Southern armyworms. These defoliators are not a problem on a crop about to be harvested, but they can limit a less mature plant's ability to finish out the crop.

Trent Barnett, Mississippi State University Extension Service agent in Calhoun County, said growers are having to scout for armyworms and make pesticide treatments.

"The armyworms are going through the foliage and eating the leaves, which is a concern on the crop that still needs to grow a bit before harvest," Barnett said. "Because of the cracks in the ground, they're eating the leaves and moving into the root and eating the first potato in some fields."

The state has received very little rainfall in September. Dry ground can skin the sweet potatoes as they are harvested, making them less attractive for the fresh-market consumer.

"Rain will help prevent skinning and will also finish sizing up the later planted crop," Barnett said.

Sweet potatoes are labor-intensive to plant and harvest. Workers must plant fields by hand in a two-step process of planting sweet potato pieces, which grow into the slips that are later cut and transplanted for the actual crop. At harvest, mechanical diggers pull sweet potatoes out of the ground. Field hands ride the diggers and sort the roots by hand.

USDA ranks Mississippi No. 3 in sweet potato production behind North Carolina and California, and the state's sweet potatoes are in demand nationally throughout the year. Sweet potato supplies are low now, and demand is high and expected to become greater at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

"Calhoun County and the Vardaman area soil makes for a very sweet, good-tasting sweet potato," Barnett said. "That is why sweet potatoes in this area of Mississippi are so sought after throughout the country. The soil helps provide the taste as well as the quality shape of the potato."

The current market price for a 40-pound box of sweet potatoes is $22 to $24. Shankle said he expects that price to hold steady due to high consumer demand.

Less than half of the state's sweet potato crop was harvested when this photo was taken Sept. 25, 2019, at Earp Farms in Chickasaw County. The crop still in the ground is expected to yield better than what has been harvested to date.

DWGAN Golfing News from September 2019

BY SHIRLEY HALTERMAN

Well, September continued to be both warmer and dryer than usual. But, thankfully, the hurricanes and summer storms have managed to stay away!

Our usual Trophy Day fell on Tuesday, September 3rd, and following are the winners: (Low Net) 1st Flight —Therese Mauterer, 2nd Flight — Pat VanDervort and 3rd Flight — Mary Mizell. (Low Putts) 1st Flight — Marilyn Galus, 2nd Flight — we had a tie between Beryl Laird & Sylvia Corban and 3rd Flight — Marsha Biestek. (Closest-to-the Pin) 1st Flight — Therese Mauterer, 2nd Flight — Kathy Jones and 3rd Flight — Mary Mizell. (Longest Drive) 1st Flight — Therese Mauterer, 2nd Flight — Judi Brannan, 3rd Flight — Mary Mizell and Black Tee Flight — Beryl Laird. Therese Mauterer scored Birdies on Holes #2, #5, and #6. Beryl Laird had a Chip-in on Hole #3. Just in case you noticed that Therese Mauterer’s name has shown up a lot in this event, it is probably because she had a great day and shot an Even Par - 36.

Tuesday September 10th was our Annual Pal Day. For this event, each of our members plays with one other. Then the combined scores and handicaps of each two-some are applied. This year’s 1st Place winning team was Kitty Gregoire and Rachel Stewart. The 2nd Place team was Sylvia Corban and Therese Mauterer. There was a tie for 3rd Place. The team of Carole Griffin & Beryl Laird and the team of Nancy Sislow and Pat VanDervort shared this place. In addition, Beryl Laird had a Birdie on #6 while Chip-Ins were scored by Sandy Merdinyan on #1 and Nancy Sislow on #7.

Occasionally we get to take a “road trip” which is set up by our Club Pro, Chris Altese. On Tuesday, September 17th, twenty two of our gals played a 9-hole Scramble at The Bridges Golf Course in Bay St. Louis. Since no monies were exchanged, this game was for Bragging Rites only. (A photo of the group is attached to this article.) The First Place Team included These Mauterer, Cheryl Saak, Fran Smith and “a ghost.” The Second Place Team was comprised of Judi Brannan, Marilyn Galus, Pat VanDervort and “a ghost.” The Third Place was made up of Susie Fontenot, Dinah Knobloch, Nancy Sislow and Carol Wyrosdick. If you are unfamiliar with the term “ghost” in a golf game, it simply means that since the team was one player short of a foursome each team member must play an extra ball on each of three holes to make up for the missing player. And, we don’t want to overlook the fact that Marilyn Galus, Therese Mauterer and Nancy Sislow all had Birdies on #16 (a par 3). Our game was followed by a great lunch supplied by the staff at The Bridges.

A Scramble was played on September 24th. The weather being a bit more comfortable, twenty seven of our gals took advantage of it and came out to play. First Place went to the team of Sylvia Corban, Therese Mauterer, Pat VanDervort and “a ghost”. There is an explanation of this term in the previous paragraph. Second Place honors went to Pattie Blackwood, Linda DeParto, Dinah Knobloch and Fran Smith. Third Place (determined by a scorecard playoff) was the team composed of Judi Brannan, Renie Dack, Marilyn Galus and Beryl Laird.

Good Golfing to all of our gals as we continue to look forward to more rounds and a bit cooler, dryer weather during the coming months.

Annual “Walk for Sight” event planned for November

SEA COAST ECHO

The Diamondhead Lions Club will host the 5th Annual “Walk for Sight” on Saturday, Nov. 2 at 9 a.m. The 5K – 3.1 miles – walk in South Diamondhead raises money for the blind and vision impaired.

Walkers will register and start the walk in the green area in front of the Lazy Gator. Early registration for walkers is $20 ($25 on day of walk), which includes a “WFS” T-shirt and a souvenir booklet of the event. T-shirts are only available for the first 100 registrants.

Funds from the walk will be used by the “White Cane” fundraising arm of the Mississippi Lions Sight Foundation. That day will also be proclaimed “White Cane Day” in Diamondhead.

One of the most important services of White Cane is to support the Mississippi Lions Eye Bank. Mississippi leads the nation in per capita blindness, and approximately 15-20 percent of those individuals could have their sight restored through a corneal transplant. The Mississippi Lions Eye Bank is recognized as one of the greatest corneal eye banks in the world.

For more information or to register for the walk, contact Kinta Bakken at (228) 596-1121 or HYPERLINK "mailto:kintabakken@cableone.net" kintabakken@cableone.net.
